

Appendix 2 - Important views in the Parish

- 1 Northwest from canal towpath, Harby (Colston Lane to Langar Lane) over the Vale of Belvoir to the Trent Valley and Nottinghamshire Wolds.
Fully accessible from public rights of way.
- 2 Panorama northwest to east from Harby church and The Wong (LGS), taking in the central Vale of Belvoir and northern escarpment, including Belvoir Castle.
Fully accessible from public open spaces, public rights of way and highways.
- 3 Panorama southwest to east from southern edge of Harby village, including the partially wooded southern Belvoir escarpment.
Accessible from many points in the village.
- 4 Panoramic views northwest to southwest from the Belvoir Escarpment (including from Waltham Lane) to Harby village and church tower and beyond to the Vale and Nottinghamshire Wolds.
Accessible from public footpaths and highway.
- 5 East-northeast from Meadows Lane, Hose, and the canal towpath across open country to Belvoir Castle and the Escarpment.
Fully accessible from public rights of way and highways.
- 6 Southeast from Meadows Lane, Hose, and the canal towpath, over pastureland towards Long Clawson and the southern part of the Belvoir Escarpment.
Fully accessible from public rights of way and highways.
- 7 Southeast from Harby Lane, Hose, extensive view over the Village Hall grounds, the footpaths across Bolton's, and open grazing land to the Belvoir Escarpment.
Fully accessible from public rights of way and highways.

- 8 North from the approach to Hose village on Clawson Lane, an attractive view of the village with the Parish church tower at its centre. Fully accessible from public rights of way and highways.

- 9 Extensive panoramic views north over Hose village and across the Vale of Belvoir from Pasture Lane and the several public footpaths on the edge of the Belvoir Escarpment.

- 10 Views northwest from several places along Church Lane, Long Clawson, into open countryside including across the Vale of Belvoir to Hickling Standard and the Nottinghamshire Wolds beyond. Also views from the footpath across the hilltop looking south-east into the village.

- 11 North from high ground at the northeast corner of Long Clawson. This is a valued rural vista at a threshold between the built environment and the Vale of Belvoir landscape of dairy grazing fields that characterises the village's agricultural economy. Fully accessible from several public rights of way, and popular with dog-walkers and horse-riders

- 12 East from the eastern edge of Long Clawson across open farmland up to the wooded escarpment. Fully accessible from public rights of way and highways.

- 13 West across Castle Field from Back Lane, Long Clawson. This is a highly valued open area of historical and landscape significance within the village. Fully accessible from public rights of way and highways.

- 14 South-west from Long Clawson, particularly from the Melton Road, there are far reaching views towards Broughton Hill and Holwell Mouth. Fully accessible from public rights of way and highways.

- 15 From Back Lane and Sandpit Lane, Long Clawson, north into the village, and south (pictured) including the manor house fishpond, Castle Field, Sandpit Lane cemetery and open countryside to the Belvoir Escarpment Fully accessible from public rights of way and highways.

- 16 Views both in (north) and out (south) of Long Clawson along Mill Lane. This was once called Holwell Road and was a main route out of the village, but now it leads only to footpaths and bridleways and is, as such, very popular with dog walkers, ramblers, horse riders and families. After the Mill there are panoramic views across the village to open countryside. The importance of the views from The Sands (looking south out of the village) were highlighted in an inspector's report that refused a planning application on Mill Lane. Fully accessible from public rights of way and highways.

- 17 Panoramic views northwest from the top of Waltham Lane over Long Clawson, and then across the Vale to Nottingham and beyond. Fully accessible from public rights of way and highways. Also, views to the south of the escarpment from the bottom of Waltham Lane nearby 90° bend in East End.'
